What is Fair Trade?

When you see a product with the Fair Trade Certified™ seal, you can be sure it was made according to rigorous social, environmental, and economic standards. Fair Trade works closely on the ground with producers, and certify transactions between companies and their suppliers to ensure that the people making Fair Trade Certified goods work in safe conditions, protect the environment, build sustainable livelihoods, and earn additional money to empower and uplift their communities.

Why we became Fair Trade Certified

Awareness and social responsibility are ideas our generation will continue to define as we cast light on better ways to co-exist in a sustainable way. In efforts to take action, Dark Seas has created a collection that uses Fair Trade.

Each purchase of a Fair Trade Certified[™] item supports better working conditions for the factory workers who made it. For each product sold, they earn a premium to increase their earnings and improve livelihoods in their communities.

Consumer Facts

Reports show consumers are prioritizing sustainability now more than ever. Consumers trust the Fair Trade Certified™ seal over 'fairly traded' claims. Not only do consumers trust the Fair Trade Certified seal over unverified 'fairly traded' claims; research shows more consumers recognize and are more likely to purchase brands that carry the Fair Trade Certified seal over many other third-party labels and certifications.

63% of American shoppers recognize the Fair Trade Certified seal. (That's nearly doubled since 2008)

65% of American shoppers indicate they would trust a product more if it was certified by Fair Trade USA

Bristol Bay is one of the last great wild salmon fisheries left in the world, with an average of 40 million sockeye salmon returning to its waters annually. Bristol Bay's salmon fishery is a pillar of the Alaskan seafood industry and has employed Americans for over 130 years. Today, it supplies over 40 percent of the world's sockeye salmon, provides over 14,000 jobs, and generates $1.5 billion in annual economic activity. Crab, halibut, and other species rely on Bristol Bay as a nursery. As a globally recognized sporting destination, the region also draws tens of thousands of anglers and hunters every year. It is truly unmatched in its biological and economic productivity.

For over a decade, Bristol Bay's fishing industry and communities have faced economic uncertainty created by the Pebble Mine project, a massive low-grade ore deposit in a seismically active, wet and porous region at the headwaters of the Bristol Bay watershed. If developed, the Pebble Mine would jeopardize thousands of independent businesses, tens of thousands of jobs, and an economic engine that sustains Alaska's economy. In the event of an accident or environmental disaster, there is no doubt that American taxpayers will bear the costs and the consequences of cleaning up the contamination. Simply put, Pebble Mine is bad for the environment, existing businesses and jobs.

Dark Seas has partnered with Grundéns and B4BB, along with hundreds of other businesses, to express opposition to the proposed Pebble Mine in Bristol Bay, Alaska. We invite you to join us in raising awareness to save Bristol Bay by supporting the Dark Seas product behind the cause and taking the time to visit b4bb.org to see how you can stay involved.

100% of the net profits generated from the sale of the "Save Bristol Bay" product we offer are donated to B4BB. Businesses for Bristol Bay (B4BB) advocates for economic prosperity in the Bristol Bay region and beyond by advancing public policy that provides companies, communities, and individuals with stability and a level playing field. By putting the needs of local businesses that depend on Bristol Bays fisheries first, they can drive responsible economic development in Alaska and the industries that rely on it's resources.

B4BB's first priority is defending and furthering the long term viability and success of the businesses for Bristol Bay network, in particular those that are invested in and dependent on Bristol Bay's fisheries.
